MRS. DRISCOLL'S DETECTIVE BUREAU FOR: _____ ONLY

Detective,

CONFIDENTIAL

You have been recruited by Mrs. Driscoll's Detective Bureau.

Report to the Bureau on Friday, October 30, at 1:30 PM.

There has been an incident. We can't say more in writing. What we can say: there are suspects. There is evidence. And we need you.

Your training will cover footprint analysis, chemical testing, code-breaking, witness interviews, and one task we would rather not describe. It involves [redacted].

Dress code: anything you don't mind getting wrapped in [redacted]. Costumes are welcome and not required. Every detective receives a badge at the door.

Bring: the enclosed Detective ID, filled in.

Tell: your family. No one else. Especially not older siblings. They talk.

— The Detective

For grown-ups: the Halloween party is a detective-themed whodunit run by parent volunteers, 1:30 to 3:00 on Oct 30. No food is required for the party to work; if snacks are approved, they'll be store-bought, sealed, and nut-free. Costumes are optional. Every child gets a detective badge and takes home a small non-food prize. Questions: _____